An unnamed Romulus city building inspector was accused of inspecting a home he himself owns and is now using as a state group home.

Mayor Beverly McAnally was told Monday night by a private citizen that the inspector also threatened her if she continued with any complaints against him.

The claim was made shortly after Nancy Crevier of Heyer Road told the members of the City Council that she is continuing to fight what she considers the saturation of licensed group homes in certain areas of Romulus.

After making her complaint at City Hall on June 13, Crevier said she began calling area congressmen and senators.

Crevier, who is the official spokeswoman for residents living between Hannan and Cogswell roads and Ecorse and Van Born roads, said Monday she was concerned that various levels of government seem to be confused about the involvement of other levels on this issue.

But, she said, an aide to Sen. Carl Levin told her this week that the squeaky wheel gets the attention and she is preparing a drive to collect letters from local residents opposed to the establishment of group homes in certain areas where they already exist.

Crevier said she continues to fear that Romulus could become known as a correctional city, if citizens don't act soon to reverse the trend.

After returning from a brief vacation, Crevier said she plans to host a meeting with State Reps. James Kosteva and Greg Pitoniak.

She said she heard the li-

Junior high school principal is sought

A search for a new Romulus Junior High School principal has begun now that current Principal Jesse Meriweather has been named district athletic director.

Meriweather has been principal of the junior high school since 1987, Dr. Terrel M. LeCesne, assistant superintendent of schools for administrative services, said. (See related story and photo on Page B-1.)

"We've posted the position for internal use," LeCesne said, "and we hope to be able to fill the position before school opens in September."

In the meantime, Meriweather will be doing double duty, LeCesne said, and will assist with the transition once the appointment is made.

Council refuses bid of local Salvation Army

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

The Romulus City Council removed all doubt Monday night as to the sale of 15-acres of city-owned property to the Salvation Army by casting a resounding 6-1 vote to reject the $190,440 offer.

Mayor pro tem Mary Ann Banks sounded the emotional call when she told sale protesters, "The Salvation Army is not the issue, it is the salvation of the city of Romulus."

Council members were responding to the recommendation of the city Property Disposition Committee that the city accept the Salvation Army offer contingent upon special approval of the land use issue.

The committee recommendation had been made by Community Development Director Dennis Oakes, supported by City Clerk Linda Choate. The recommendation stated it referred to the offer price only, not the use issue since the Salvation Army planned to erect a Men's Rehabilitation Center and Thrift Store at the Fourth Street and Van Born Road area.

A neighbor in that area, Alga Washington, stated, "I love my neighborhood and I'm surprised this is still an issue after the residents spoke out so forcefully against it last month."

She asked Banks to poll the council to find out if any council members were associated with the Salvation Army.

Councilman Noah Bergeron admitted he was a member of the Salvation Army Advisory Board. When asked if he would abstain from voting on the issue, he said strongly, "No, I will not. I receive no money or benefits from that position. I will not refrain from voting on the issue."

Washington then asked, "Who do you represent on this matter, the Salvation Army or the residents?"

Bergeron replied, "I represent all the city residents."

Numerous individuals spoke out in opposition to the location of the rehabilitation unit in a residential area.

One man, who said he was a graduate of the Salvation Army program, spoke out strongly for the rehabilitation program. "The Salvation Army created a miracle in my life. I was addicted to drugs and I've been clean for five years now. But I still feel incomplete, because you say I'm a displacement."

Councilman Jimmie Raspberry praised the young man for having the courage to speak before the group. He then urged him to pray for continued strength to battle his former addiction.

The man returned to the microphone and said "I do sir, every morning when I get up and every night before I go to bed."

He inferred that they had nothing to fear from the residents of the rehabilitation center. "Most of them are homebodies," he said, "and they stay inside and watch a lot of television. The younger ones like me go to night school and work to get a GED diploma."

The protesters asked that the council members end their fears immediately by voting to reject the property committee recommendation.

Banks was the harshest critic of the Salvation Army request Monday night. She declared, "I see no comparison between the Goddard Road property they have now and the residential area they are seeking to relocate in."

"I feel Salvation Army officials weren't listening last month...or they are failing to show compassion for the local residents."

The vote to reject the recommendation was then conducted and Bergeron cast the vote in favor of the bid. "I feel that the Salvation Army will seek another location. I will oppose the motion to reject the bid, because I feel it was a legitimate offer. That is the real issue before us."

Capt. Roger Senn, local Salvation Army commander, was on vacation this week and could not be reached for comment.

The Salvation Army has been on Goddard Road for more than 25 years. It is being forced to move because of Metro Airport expansion.

Noah Bergeron

The upcoming anniversary of the crash of Flight 255 in Romulus brought some uneasy moments at the Romulus City Council meeting Monday night -- as Councilman Noah Bergeron asked families and friends of the air disaster victims not to turn the roadway into a cemetery again.

The support group will mark the fifth year they will gather on "the hill," on Middlebelt Road, north of Wick Road, Aug. 15 and 16 where the plane crashed killing 154 persons.

Bergeron is fearful that one of these memorial events will cause roadway fatalities, as motorists are distracted from their driving as they look at the proceedings, he said.

He asked the City Council members to press Wayne County for a hold harmless decree in case of such a new disaster since the site the plane crashed killing 154 persons.

Bergeron said it is time now for those mourning the loss of loved ones to select a safer place to have their memorial rites rather than a highly traveled thoroughfare.

Mayor Beverly McAnally told council members that the city has offered alternate sites for such memorials "but they have been rudely rejected."

According to information supplied to council members, the support group is urging friends and relatives of crash victims to "feel free to place something by your loved one's dove -- a flower, a picture, a momento -- at the crash site about 10 a.m. Saturday Aug. 15."

The group has slated a dinner and fellowship time from 5 to 11 p.m. at the Ramada Inn. The following day an ecumenical church service is being planned at 3 p.m. at St.

Aloysius Catholic Church in Romulus.

That Sunday from 7 to 9:15 p.m. a vigil is planned with music, reading and time of reflection.

At 8:46 p.m., the schedule states, a memorial reading of the names of the victims will begin with participants lighting small pen lights in honor of their loved ones.

Bergeron said turning the highway area into a cemetery has been a dangerous practice in recent years. "I feel it is turning the event into a spectacle, as TV reporters shove cameras into people's faces. It is ridiculous...it only gives people like (TV anchorman) Bill Bonds a chance to make a speech."

He said, "It is like going to Annapolis Hospital on the anniversary of my dad's death and asking them to close the hospital so we could have a memorial service."

All the council members except Councilman Jimmie Raspberry supported asking the county to set up the hold harmless decree. Raspberry said he knew relatives of the victims and understood the emotions they are still feeling.

"Why don't we penalize Northwest instead for flying over Romulus? If giving them one day out of the year offers them some form of comfort, I say give it to them."

Host families sought for foreign students

By KAREN GRANDISON
ANP Special Writer

Area families are urgently needed to host 48 French and Spanish boys arriving July 1. These students want to spend four weeks in Michigan experiencing an American style of living. Families need not speak a foreign language to host, since the students have had from four to eight years of English language study.

The 48 boys without families are part of the 160 French and Spanish exchange students and chaperones scheduled to arrive here July 1. In addition, another 41 boys and 36 girls are unplaced from the group of 160 French, Spanish and German students and chaperones arriving in Michigan at the end of July.

Evelyn and Julian Prince, of West Bloomfield, the state co-ordinators for Nacel Cultural Exchange, match the 320 Michigan host families with students according to general interest and specific activities they would like to share with their guests. The teenagers have a variety of interests including tennis and other sports, water activities, computers, camping and music.

Some American families take their guests on trips; others share their everyday lifestyle. The students, ages 14-18, bring pocket money, and their parents pay for their transportation and insurance. Teacher chaperones accompany the teenagers.

"Our recruitment of host families is in full swing, but we still need many more families," Evelyn Prince said. "After 16 years we still love letting families know that it is not too late to add excitement and learning to their summer and to do a wonderful service at the same time," she said.

"What happens when families discover which European son or daughter will be theirs for a month?" Prince continued, "in many cases, even their dog is smiling and waiting for the arrival."

The students will be here for four weeks. Hosts must supply three family references and are asked to provide the guests access to other teenagers. Children of the host families get preferred acceptance as exchange students for the Nacel reciprocal programs to France, Spain, Germany and Ivory Coast in future summers.

"Some hosts start out just trying to help an exchange student, but end up giving their whole family a wonderful experience," Julian Prince said. "Often we see the four weeks developing into a life-long friendship with the student returning again and the host families members going to Europe to visit the guest's families."

Nacel Cultural Exchanges, a non-profit organization, is the largest Summer Homestay program between Europe and the U.S. Nationally, more than 94,000 students and families have been served since 1969, while locally there have been more than 3,800 participants since 1980 when the Princes first brought the program to Michigan.

Families interested in hosting one of the boys, or perhaps a girl or chaperone, for four weeks beginning July 1 or in late July should phone the Princes at (313) 626-6641 or call local contact Sharon Pockewinski in Belleville at (313) 461-0989 or the national office of Nacel Cultural Exchanges in St. Paul, Minnesota at 800-NACELLE (800-622-3553).

Agency seeking local attorneys

A Wayne County agency is seeking local attorneys to assist the poor and indigent.

In an effort to encourage county-wide volunteerism among attorneys, the Wayne County Neighborhood Legal Services (WCNLS) is expanding the Private Attorney Involvement (PAI) program.

Rising unemployment within the area has generated an overwhelming demand for free legal assistance, according to Ernestine Pitts, who is spearheading the project.

"The project is an innovative effort that will allow us to process more cases than we currently handle," Pitts stressed. "Our goal is to serve the needs of every qualified person who is in-need of legal assistance."

The program will be operated from WCNLS Inkster Law Center.

The Private Attorney Involvement Program actively recruits attorneys to handle cases on behalf of the agency at no cost or for a reduced fee. Many of the cases referred to PAI are landlord-tenant matters, torts, bankruptcies, wills and divorces.

WCNLS is looking for legal organizations in the area to assist with the recruitment for the program. Legal organizations or attorneys who are interested should contact Pitts at 721-3684.

"The U.S. Constitution guarantees justice for all," said attorney Linda D. Bernard, executive director of WCNLS. "However, only approximately 20 percent of the needs of low income people are currently being met."

"Without legal services, there can be no justice. I urge all members of the bar to donate services to the WCNLS."

Man accused of smashing police windshields

A Romulus man was arrested early Sunday morning and charged with smashing three police car windshields and one rear window.

Police reported a citizen called Romulus Police Headquarters via the 9-1-1 emergency number and revealed that a man was breaking police car windows in the parking lot.

Police Sgt. Ronald Huggins ran out of police headquarters about 12:15 a.m., as several citizens blocked the man's escape route.

Huggins arrested Deondra Scott Hicks, 21, of Romulus, and charged him with malicious destruction of police property. He was arraigned Sunday and held in lieu of $4,000 bail.

A preliminary examination was set for Aug. 5 at the 34th District Court.

Church plans service, pig roast

An outdoor community worship service and pig roast will be staged Sunday at what is expected to be the first community use of the newly remodeled Romulus Historical Society Park at Goddard and Bibbins roads.

The outdoor worship service will begin at 11 a.m. under the direction of Rev. J.D. Landis, pastor of the Community United Methodist Church.

Parking is available at the nearby Romulus Senior Center or at United Methodist Church parking lots.

The pig roast is slated to begin about 12:30 p.m. Hot dishes may be kept at the church prior to the picnic, Landis said. Participants are urged to bring a dish to serve 12, table-service and cloth, extra lawn chairs and any sports equipment desired.

Restroom facilities will be available at the senior center, Landis said, and park use will continue until about 4 p.m.

The public is invited to attend, but it is recommended that persons who have not notified church leaders to date, should contact Landis at 941-0736 today to reserve a place at the pig roast.

In case of inclement weather the service and picnic will be moved inside the church.

been approved -- yet furniture was being moved into the house.

Councilman Jimmie Raspberry said before a license could be issued, the house needed to be inspected by the local fire marshall and a building inspector.

It was at this time that another unnamed woman said, "The house is actually owned by a city inspector and he does his own inspecting. He also has threatened me in the past."

McAnally agreed the unnamed inspector should not be inspecting his own property. "I understood he lived there, at least for a while," she said.

"Only for about four months," the objector said.

City council members urged McAnally to conduct an investigation of the inspector's alleged actions and to report back to them in two weeks.

In the meantime, Raspberry urged Crevier to write also to President Bush and Democratic Presidential candidate Bill Clinton, since it is a federal mandate on housing that is the center of the group home issue.

"It is an election year, you never know what might happen."

Rains hit schools

The unusually heavy summer rains have caused problems within various Romulus Elementary Schools during the current roof top air conditioning renovation program. In the top photo, an unidentified laborer works on the new block wall at Wick Elementary school, already covered with plastic to help protect the school interior. The bottom photo shows some of the temporary protection devices used at Hale Creek Elementary School.

Rain soaks local schools

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Superintendent of Romulus Schools Dr. William Bedell and school board members toured various city schools this week to survey the damage done by recent summer rainstorms.

The storms hit at a very inopportune time for the local school district, as most of the school roofs were open due to the upgrading of the air conditioning systems by Barton Malow Construction/Services workers.

While the roof openings were covered to protect the buildings from normal storm damage, several times in the past month record rainfalls caused some of the rainwater to enter the schools.

Wayne Krupin, project manager, said luckily most of the water that entered the schools was clean and caused almost no permanent damage.

School personnel, along with construction workers, were forced to remove rainwater from various carpeting several times, Krupin said, but no permanent damage was found to the carpeting.

Numerous ceiling tiles were damaged and were replaced, he said.

Bedell said negotiations will be scheduled soon to discuss damage cost recovery factors with the various insurance companies.

The rains, however, caused only minor time delays on the air conditioning upgrading effort, Krupin said.

Nursery meetings scheduled

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

A series of summer teas are being planned in Romulus next month to allow local mothers and children (ages 2 to 6) to learn more about the Huron Countryside Cooperative Nursery.

The teas are slated from 10 to noon on Aug. 4 in a home located at 21358 Merriman Road and Aug. 13 from 1 to 3 p.m. at a home at 16080 Dodge Street.

Laura Wands of Romulus, who has been involved with the nursery for five years, said in addition to Romulus children, other children are invited to attend from the following areas Belleville, Wayne, Westland, New Boston and Huron Townships.

The school actually will open Sept. 15 at the Miller School in New Boston. Nursery officials will then follow the local school district schedule.

Just prior to the opening of school a parent orientation will be at 7 p.m. Sept. 10 at the school.

The classes will be directed by Lois Winfield, a former Head Start teacher.

The nursery, which opened 18 years ago, attracted 64 children last year. Children four and under attend two and a half hour sessions twice a week. Those older than four attend two and a half hour sessions three times a week.

Wands, who also serves as the vice president in charge of membership, explained that a co-op nursery is a non-profit educational and developmental program for young children owned and operated by parents and licensed by the state.

Parents participate in activities at the nursery every so often. Wands explained, "We know that parents are the most influential teachers of their children. Such parent-child interaction promotes problem-solving, curiosity, concept building and positive self-esteem."

Activities include block building, dramatic play, easel painting, creative art, woodworking, cooking, science, sand and water play and learning trips.

Persons seeking further information are urged to call 941-5692.

State representative answers opponent

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

State Rep. Gregory Pitoniak of Taylor, who said he has a history of positive campaigning said he is disappointed that his opponent for the Democratic nomination for the 22nd District is trying to misrepresent his views on taxes, labor issues and women's rights.

Pitoniak, who is a former Taylor councilman and was first elected state representative in 1988, is being challenged for the Democratic nomination by Romulus candidate Catalina Hall.

The primary election date is Aug. 4 and the new 22nd District encompasses Romulus and Taylor.

While stating an official request for a debate from his opponent only reached him last week, he agreed to answer questions submitted by Hall.

Pitoniak stressed that a property tax is one of the most negative factors in future home or business development and he strongly favors abolishing it in favor of an increased (and even a doubling if necessary) sales tax.

Hall also asked Pitoniak if he was aware of the negative impact on trade Canada has had because of an exorbitant sales taxes.

"Comparing a national sales tax with that of a state is like comparing apples and oranges," Pitoniak said.

He also stated a growing number of state legislators are realizing that tax reform is needed, but are unwilling to take a chance on backing any increased taxes with the current mood of the voters.

Hall also asked if Pitoniak is frustrated with the current auto insurance crisis in the legislature, why hasn't he proposed one himself?

Pitoniak said he has been one of the key actors in the auto insurance bill process.

"Despite the feeling that when you introduce a bill in the legislature, it really isn't yours when it gets through," Pitoniak said, he was heavily involved in the insurance bill battle.

"Basically it was substi-

tute bill calling for a 20 policy cost cutback that was vetoed by Gov. John Engler," he said.

Hall also wanted to know why confessed serial killer Leslie Allen Williams was paroled.

Pitoniak, who along with most of the state House of Representatives voted recently to toughen parole board policies, said excessive state penal costs may block the opening of four possible state prisons.

"Overcrowding in our prisons has muddied the parole issue," he said. Pitoniak said that Michigan needs to recatalog prisoners better, so that it can find more space for our violent offenders.

Pitoniak said four prisons were built recently and may remain closed to state prisoners, because Michigan doesn't have the funds to staff them. One or two actually may become federal prisons, he said.

Pitoniak said his views on abortion are well known and that while he personally opposes abortion, he realizes that some may not agree with his moral position. "It is impractical for government to prohibit abortions," he said.

Despite Hall's cry about his anti-labor ties, Pitoniak said he has been endorsed by the Michigan State AFL-CIO General Board and Michigan Teamsters Joint Council 43.

He has also won the endorsement of the Michigan State Fire Fighters Union and the Fraternal Order of Police.

Woman candidate breaks new ground

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Catalina Hall of Romulus, the first-time candidate for the newly created state House of Representative District 22, stated she is breaking new ground for feminists interested in entering the political arena.

Hall, 40, a married mother of two children and three stepchildren, refrained from listing her family members' names in her campaign literature.

While her family endorsed her effort, Hall said, it is her personal decision not to reveal their names in local newspapers either.

Hall, an avowed abortion backer, said her decision is linked to the fact that "anti-abortionists have bombed and damaged many doctors' offices and clinics. Most people support my decision."

She said her children have attended some of her fundraisers and her husband supports her campaign.

Hall decided to enter the race against Rep. Gregory Pitoniak for the Democratic nomination because she is concerned about the erosion of women's rights to legal abortion and a safe unhindered work place.

Declaring she is not a career politician, Hall said with a smile, "if I would have known how much fun campaigning was I probably would have gotten involved before."

Hall, who was divorced and on welfare briefly back in 1981, stated she was treated rudely and abusively by officials at the Department of Social Services.

She believes that jobless citizens (particularly women) should not be penalized by state funding cutbacks, when they seek underpaid jobs in stead of remaining on welfare.

"We must stop treating the poor as if the economy is their fault," Hall said, "and must continue to encourage independence by establishing a written plan for each recipient to follow to get off welfare."

Her strongest campaign rhetoric is saved for the abortion rights she stressed.

While she calls her primary opponent a gentleman, Hall said, women have to stop supporting those who say "I love you", while putting them in jail for seeking abortions.

Hall, who was named feminist of the year by Detroit's Organization for Women in 1990, said she has campaigned door to door in Taylor also and has found most residents she talked with are proud they have a candidate that supports change.

During her talks with Romulus and Taylor residents in recent weeks, Hall said, she has found they are interested in school funding issues, school discipline, parental involvement and nursing home care improvements.

To date her major endorsements have come from women's groups such as Michigan Abortion Rights Action League, National Organization for Women, Michigan Organization for Human Rights and the Michigan Women's Campaign Fund.

Chorus selected to appear at Carnegie Hall

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Feature Editor

Some have only dreamed about standing before an audience at the historic Carnegie Hall in New York City, but for some local singers, that dream could come true.

But before their dream can be realized, the vocal music department at John Glenn High School must collect a large amount of money for the trip.

Members of the John Glenn Choral Music Department have been selected to participate in a 200-voice chorus at Carnegie Hall May 30, 1993 which is comprised of four to five choruses from throughout the U.S.

Approximately 36 students and 13 adults have been chosen to represent John Glenn High School for this prestigious honor, according to Judith A. Premin, conductor/director of the John Glenn music department.

"The 200 voice chorus will be conducted by Dr. Jerry Blackstone from the University of Michigan who will also be making his debut," Premin said. "We've had several auditions. It was very difficult to not be able to take everyone, but we are all excited about being asked to become a part of history. It's an honor."

The 200-voice chorus will be singing Mendelssohn's Psalm 42 for soprano, chorus and orchestra. The piece will be sung in German, according to Premin.

John Glenn High School is the only Michigan school which has been asked by the MidAmerica Productions to participate in the Carnegie Hall event.

In 1993, MidAmerica Productions will celebrate the 10th anniversary of the group. Their goal is to highlight the appearance of outstanding adult, university and high school ensembles from the U.S., according to Premin.

The John Glenn Choral Department needs to collect $49,000 in order for the group to participate, according to Marjorie R. Kolacz, general chairwoman of the Carnegie Hall trip.

"We need to raise approximately $1,000 per person which includes air fare," Kolacz said. "We would appreciate any donations from businesses or residents in the area. I believe this is not only an honor for these children, and the school, but for this community also."

Ron Chebatoris, a Westland senior, has been selected as one of the members for the 200-voice chorus. He has been singing for four years. He is a tenor with the John Glenn High School chorus and is very excited about being a part of history.

2 challengers, incumbent seek 34th District judgeship

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

Two Belleville area attorneys have entered the race with the incumbent for a judgeship in the 34th District Court.

Robert Meston, who has practiced law in the area since 1976, joins fellow attorney Josephine Chapman in challenging incumbent Henry Zaborowski on the November ballot.

The jurisdiction of the court encompasses 144 square miles, which includes Detroit Metro Airport, the cities of Belleville and Romulus and the townships of Van Buren, Sumpter and Huron.

Plans to seek re-election to his fourth six-year term on the 34th District Court were announced by Judge Henry Zaborowski in mid-March.

Zaborowski, who has served as a district court judge for 18 years, is a 51-year resident of Van Buren Township. He attended Belleville High School and is a graduate of Detroit Institute of Technology where he received bachelor degrees in business administration and law. Zaborowski received his legal training from the Detroit College of Law, which he attended on a scholarship.

Henry Zaborowski

After earning his degrees, Zaborowski received advanced professional education in Comparative Judicial Study at Michigan State University, the Institute of Criminology at Cambridge University and the British Academy of Forensic Sciences, both located in England, and the National College of the State Judiciary at the University of Nevada.

Zaborowski is the former president of the Great Lakes Steel local union and served on the International Wage Policy Committee. As a practicing attorney, he represented Sumpter Township and the Romulus School District.

He is a member of the Suburban Bar Association, Michigan Bar Association, Florida Bar Association and the American Judicature Society. Zaborowski is admitted to practice law in all state courts in Michigan, including the Michigan Supreme Court, as well as the Supreme Court of the United States and the Federal District Court. He is also a former member of the Panel of Arbitrators of the American Arbitration Association.

The district court judge is a U.S. Army veteran and a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Polish League of American Veterans, Polish National Alliance, U.S. Power Squadron, the Masons and Shriners.

He is married to the former Patricia Ann Wilson and is the father of three.

Robert Meston, a graduate of Kalamazoo Central High School, attended Western Michigan University and received a juris doctor degree from the University of Detroit. His area of law practice have been family, probate, criminal, bankruptcy and real estate. In addition to practicing law in the district since 1976, he has also served on the mediation panel and as a small claims mediator.

"Each of our citizens deserves respect and consideration while in the court. The court demands respect from all parties appearing in front of it and each judge should grant people the same respect while they are in the courtroom," Meston said.

The 20-year resident of Van Buren Township is a member of a number of local bar associations as well as the State Bar of Michigan. He is also a member of the Kiwanis Club, Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce, Belleville-Van Buren Democratic Club and a Belleville Area Little League sponsor.

Meston is married to the former Patricia Martin, a school psychologist in the Dearborn Heights school system. He is the father of three children, all students in the Van Buren Public Schools.

Josephine Chapman, a long-time Belleville resident, has a legal practice on Main Street. She is a member of the State Bar of Michigan and the Women Lawyers Association. She also is a member of the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce, Central Business Community, Belleville Music Committee, Belleville-Van Buren Democratic Party and the Democratic Party of Michigan.

A graduate of Wyandotte Roosevelt High School, Chapman received a degree from Eastern Michigan University before receiving a juris doctor degree from Thomas M. Cooley Law School.

Her areas of practice have been in family law, criminal, probate, landlord-tenant and real estate law. She has volunteered two evenings per month to serve as a small claims mediator in the 34th District Court and has recently been appointed to serve as counsel to indigent defendants. She also has been a referral attorney for United Auto Workers members.

"The courts reflect the values of a society and must deal with those that come before it with absolute impartiality and, regardless how lowly the circumstances of an individual may be, under the law, everyone must be treated equally," Chapman said.

Opinion

Will of the people

There may be a time bomb ticking ominously in local voting booths, and voters need to exercise caution in dealing with the situation.

Wayne County commissioners voted last month to place a .5 mill increase on the primary ballot to fund health care for the indigent. Proponents of the increase suggest that the funds are necessary to help defray cuts in aid to the indigent and medical costs for those dependent on social services. Much of this funding, they claim, was reduced or eliminated by the state with Gov. John Engler's budget.

This may all be true and the funding may indeed be necessary and worthwhile. None of us wishes to see anyone suffer needlessly because of a lack of funds to provide health care. But, despite claims to the contrary, we are not sure that the proper safeguards are in place to ensure that the estimated $13 million in revenue generated from this tax will be used only for such supplemental health care.

And, we are somewhat puzzled by the commission decision to place this question on the primary, rather than the regular ballot. We wonder why there has been so little publicity regarding the question and why there has been no active campaigning for or against the issue.

The purported funding sounds needed and urgent. And we agree with Commissioner Kay Beard who has stated that it is her opinion that we cannot, in good conscience, leave these less fortunate people without health care. We agree this is a good cause, we are just not quite sure that this is the best way to achieve this goal.

Commission member Bryan Amann has stated publicly that he feels this may be an attempt of the commission members to slip this question past the voters who may not be feeling quite as generous in November as they do in August. He has also explained that the number of voters at the polls in the primary is usually far fewer than the November tally, making this a decision which will be made by a very few taxpayers indeed.

We urge all registered voters to take the time and make the effort to vote on this question and to choose candidates to seek office Tuesday. This primary is an important election and will decide far more than many may think.

While we have gone on record as agreeing with our local municipal officials regarding this proposal, and do not feel that this tax proposal should be approved at this time, we still feel that it is a question far better placed before the largest number of taxpayers possible.

Commission officials have said that should the tax not win the approval of voters, they will place the issue on the ballot again in November, hoping to be successful.

If for no other reason, we would urge a no vote on this issue Tuesday so that it can be examined and voted on by the largest number of people possible to ensure that it truly is the will of the people.

The buyer beware

It is the season of scams.

Nearly every local police official has at least a dozen of the calls at this time every year. Unsuspecting homeowners have been duped by one type of con man or another and have lived to regret the purchase made in haste.

There are the driveway specialists who have just enough blacktop or asphalt left on the truck from another job to finish one driveway. These unscrupulous individuals offer a fantastic price, coat the driveway with sealant, take the money and are never seen again. And next spring, the driveway coating runs right into the sewer as the rains wash it off the base. Unsuspecting purchasers watch the coating and their money flow into the nearest sewer with alarm and shame.

We urge all homeowners to be extremely cautious of any deal that sounds too good to be true. If that's how it sounds, it probably is-- too good to be true.

Reputable contractors know exactly how much material is needed for a job and do not have left over or extra material with which to coat a driveway, patch cement or sidewalks or repair a roof.

If an individual comes to the door with such an offer, police advise that the first call made should be to them and the second to the better business bureau to investigate these people.

There is still no such thing as a free lunch and no deal that good to be had today.

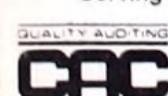

Protect yourself, even when it means from yourself.

Former corps called solution

To the editor:

Robert Maynard's May 21, 1992 Column, "An Old Idea is a Good Idea: Revive the CCC", was right on target. Our current political leaders, and their would-be successors, are missing a great opportunity to bring about possible solutions to some of our major ills that are presently plaguing our nation. One of our most urgent problems that cries for addressing is that of unemployment, under-employment, and under-education of millions of our citizens--especially our urban minorities. OF COURSE, THESE THREE CONDITIONS LEAD ULTIMATELY TO DISAPPOINTMENT, FRUSTRATION, ALIENATION, SELF-DEPRICATION AND FINALLY ANTAGONISM.

Yes, our nation is at a "crossroad", and we must act promptly. We cannot just continue as we have in the past, just maintain the status quo. For a guaranteed partial answer to the problem of providing employment and improved self-esteem for our youth--those between eighteen and twenty-eight years of age; our leaders need not look any further than the program known as the "CCC", the Civilian Conservation Corps. Reactivate the corps and we can reduce greatly the problems threatening our youth. As was done during and after the "Great Depression", young men from the ages of 18 through 28 were enrolled in the "CCCs". This gave them an opportunity, not only to work, thus helping themselves and their families economically, but it also helped them to develop many skills. Most importantly, it too gave them the all-important feeling of belonging and a sense of worthiness. These young men developed character: discipline, perseverance, honesty, integrity, positive values and a sense of purpose.

In re-activating the CCCs, our nation can also benefit, now that the War is over, and enmities in limbo, our soldiers (defense industry) and administering the camps--utilizing a quasi-military approach as was done in the original Civilian Conservation Corps.

Much work can be accomplished. Namely, cleaning up our inner cities; demolishing abandoned and/or burned-out structures, maintaining parks and other recreation areas, roads and railroads, bridges, trestles, viaducts, dams, and all facets of our infrastructure. The tasks also can include cleaning up our rivers, streams and lakes as well as removing and transplanting our forest and wetlands. The best benefit of all, that will result from this endeavor will be the millions and millions of dollars that will thus be kept in circulation and thus firing up our economy.

Reduce substantially our current appropriations of foreign aid and our horrendous defense budget. Use the equivalent expenditures to finance this tired and true program with new and revised vigor and will.

As one of our greatest leaders of all time, the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, said at the beginning of his second term in office: "The test of our progress is not whether we provide enough for those who have too little."

Re-activate the Civilian Conservation Corps and save our infrastructure, but, more importantly, conserve our youth, our most valuable resource.

Opinion cited as racist

To the editor:

I am writing in reference to your narrow-minded, short-sighted editorial on the Wayne County special millage proposition.

It takes more than heart which appeared July 2, 1992, and the accompanying blatantly racist cartoon. You have sunk to a new low in journalistic performance.

It is bad enough that Wayne County Commissioner Bryan Amann is so parochial as to suggest that tax revenue earmarked for help to the indigent and homeless would be of no benefit to our area.

Your concurrence serves to ratify his implicitly racist point of view. Your suggestion that earmarked revenue could somehow be used for some other (illicit) purpose is just plain incorrect.

Your cartoonist, of course, made the implied racism of your editorial explicit. How could Mayor Coleman Young of Detroit possibly have anything to do with Wayne County tax revenue. Detroit is a governmental entity totally separate from the government of Wayne County. Is it not bigotry that brings the cartoonist to such an erroneous linking of Black people, Young, the City of Detroit and the portion of Wayne County that coincides with the City of Detroit?

The truth is, there are indigent and homeless people throughout Wayne County, not just in the City of Detroit. The 1990 census revealed no less than 89,800 people below the poverty level in Wayne County outside Detroit.

I sincerely hope that in the future you will be more attentive to a cardinal rule of journalism: check your facts. Even more, do not perpetuate ignorance and bigotry.

Trustee urges 'yes' vote

To the editor:

On June 5, 1992 it was my pleasure to take part in the graduation ceremonies at Wayne County Community College. On that evening 957 graduates crossed the stage and received their diplomas.

Some of these students will continue their studies at Madonna University, Eastern Michigan University, Wayne State and the University of Michigan, as well as universities in other states.

Many other graduates have upgraded their technical and working skills so that they can qualify for better positions or new positions in a changing job market.

Over the years Wayne County Community College has graduated more than 50 percent of the nurses in Wayne County, and offers high technology education and training in fields such as computers, electronics, robotics, laser optics, waste management, environmental sciences and associate degrees in 59 disciplines.

The operation of Wayne County Community College has been assured over the last 25 years by tuition payments, 1/4 mill of assessed valuation, and approximately $10 million yearly from the State of Michigan. But the state has now changed this funding process and has started to eliminate the annual funding by reducing to $0 over a five-year period 10 years. This will cost the average homeowner less than $50 per year and is replacement funding. This means that a 1/4 mill will no longer be assessed, the remaining annual portion of the funding from the state will not be received.

I strongly recommend a "YES" vote for Wayne County Community College on Aug. 4.

Resident protests park opening

To the editor:

It was lost in the mail--right? What happened to our invitation? Our, meaning the tax-payers of Canton Township. We certainly were invited to help pay for the beautiful Heritage Park.

We could have watched the cutting of the ribbon (that is if we had been lucky enough to have accidentally heard about the event.)

Even though we had been there for the ceremony, we would not have been invited to the party.

Now we were all invited to pay for the party, but I guess our officials are not aware of the rules of etiquette. If you invite them to the shower, you must invite them to the wedding.

Now my point is all the tax-payers in Canton should have been invited to the party. Who was invited?

I have been a resident and tax-payer of Canton for 45 years, and I am sure there are many residents who have been here longer who were not invited, if longevity had been the criteria for an invitation. My tax bill is more than sufficient, and I am sure there are residents who have a much higher tax bill, were they invited?

The dedication of the park was not published enough, and the party should have been for all residents--or none.

What do you think Tom Yack? You never forget to send us our tax bill, so what happened to our invitation to the Heritage Park dedication?

sponse this year," said Bill Hawley, tournament manager. "But, it seems the defending champs, as usual, are holding out until the last minute. We're urging everyone who is planning to compete this year to get in their registration forms as soon as possible so we can set up foursomes and tee times."

To register, competitors should complete the entry form accompanying this story.

There is a $47 registration fee which will include the two-days green fees as well as defray the costs for purchasing trophies.

Competitors will play 18-holes Aug. 8 and return the following day for the final and championship rounds Aug. 9. Separate city championships will be conducted simultaneously for all participating cities.

There will be additional flight competition for a city only if the total entry for a city warrants it.

The competitors will be playing for trophies, which will be presented to the top three finishers in each of the flights, and also competing to qualify for a berth on their recreation team that will compete for the state title.

The low five scorers from each city will be eligible to play on the city team. However, you must be able to prove residency in order to compete in the state finals.

There will be no refunds after the first-day of competition

Anderson tourney Nothdurft retains softball title

Defending champ Nothdurft came back with vengeance Sunday afternoon in the championship round of the prestigious Leonard J. Anderson Memorial softball tournament.

After losing a thriller, 9-8, in the winner's bracket to title hopeful Adray Sound, Nothdurft dropped into the loser's bracket where it struggled to come back and play their arch-rivals in the finals.

Adray Sound disposed of Austin Lighting in the opening round, then ripped Law Autos, 15-5, before turning back Ford Adray, 21-12, to get a shot chance at Nothdurft in the quarterfinals.

In the meantime, Nothdurft coasted by the champions, 24-14, in their first round, then tamed the Mules, 17-11, before claiming a 13-7 victory over S.D.M.

Adray Sound stunned the defending champs, 9-8, in their first encounter, tossing the champs into the loser's bracket where they rose from the ashes by burning Ford Adray 14-5.

That Nothdurft victory set up a rematch with Adray Sound. The defending champs evened up the score with a 13-10 triumph over what proved to be the only club to beat them in this tournament.

The victory set up the title bout for the 16th annual tournament.

Nothdurft won the title with a surprisingly easy 11-5 decision over Adray in their third and final encounter.

"It was an excellent game and tournament," said Larry Quartuccio, tournament manager. "Adray's victory over the defending champ was a classic cliffhanger."

Nothdurft's Craig Seaman also walked off the diamond with a second trophy. He was voted by his peers as the Most Valuable Player of the 1992 tournament.

Managers also named an All-Tournament Team which consisted of: Jim Riggs (Bleyaert Builders), Charles Vandercook (Bleyaert Builders), Greg Tome (Ford Adray), Tony Anzingberger (Ford Adray), Mike Engleheart (Ford Adray), Tim Wancha (Adray Sound), Gordie Ferguson (Adray Sound), Mike Taylor (Adray Sound), Chuck Marionna (Nothdurft), Mike McDowell (Nothdurft) and Tony Dedonatas (Nothdurft).

Tony Jackson, who swatted five home runs in five attempts, was declared the Home Run Derby Champ, while Bob Stewart, who blasted five roundtrippers, earned the Home Run King crown.

Chuck Marionna batted a phenomenal .703 for the series - the highest tournament batting average - and earned an extra trophy for his accomplishment.

Playoff fever hits Wayne softball

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Unless their fortunes take a drastic change for the worst, Blitzkrieg and E and M Underground softball teams appear to be heading for a showdown for the city title in men's softball in Wayne.

Blitzkrieg has taken command in Division II as the title-contender blanked Jack Demmer I, 6-0, in their first playoff appearance. Winning pitcher Ron Smith scattered six singles to post the rare shutout.

While Smith was gathering goose eggs, loser Cal Klemola had trouble stopping Blitzkrieg's bats. The winners struck for three runs in the opening inning and went on to score two each in the fourth, sixth and seventh frames to stash away the victory.

Ken Browe and Al Brothers led the winner's assault on Klemola as each collected two hits. One of Browe's blast went for the distance.

Smith was equally difficult for the players from Mark Chevrolet, who disposed of with a four-hitter in a 5-1 victory. The auto dealer-sponsored team averted the shutout in the bottom of the sixth when John Chamberlain sliced a run-scoring single.

Brian Leen had an excellent evening at the plate for Blitzkrieg. He strung together three singles in four appearances.

Smith also shattered Al's Glass hopes of winning the divisional championship as he twirled a six-hitter in a 7-3 victory. Al's made it close thanks to a two-run spurt in the bottom of the fourth, but they never were able to overcome a 5-1 Blitzkrieg lead.

Chuck Calvin's bat accounted for four runs batted in as the Blitzkrieg slugger slammed a pair of run-scoring base hits off of loser Greg Bird. Al Ziminka stroked two hits for the losers and also had a RBI single.

Earlier, Al's overpowered Demmer I, 19-7, striking for six runs in the second and adding seven more in the third for the victory. Mike Marove missed hitting for the cycle, but he managed to hammer a homer, double and single off of loser Klemola.

Jim Gardner belted three singles for the losers.

Al's also stopped Mark Chevrolet 8-3 behind Greg Bird's six-hit pitching performance. Tom Toomey collected a pair of singles and a triple and also drove in two runs for the winners.

Lee Carroll, the losing pitcher, gave up 10 hits. Teammate Phil Kasko accounted for two of the six hits off of Bird. He got a single and a double.

Over in Division I, E & M launched its bid for the title with a 6-0 victory over the Red Apple. Losing pitcher Ben Corney collected two of the four hits off winner Jack Himmelsbach, who went the distance. Corney laced two singles but was left stranded on the base paths.

Paul Grywalski helped the winning cause with two RBIs.

Romulus selects athletic director

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

One of the biggest challenges facing newly-appointed Romulus High School athletic director Jesse Meriweather is finding a conference for his school.

The 53-year-old former Western Michigan University basketball star was the unanimous choice for the job, offered him Monday night by the Romulus school board members.

Meriweather has been employed as a teacher-coach-junior high principal by the school district since September of 1970. He will replace

'Hot shots' Sharp shooters earn their titles

Who were the top "hotshots" in Canton Township this summer?

The answers were revealed last weekend after some heated competition staged by the Canton Parks and Recreation Department.

Officials were looking for the top cagers, who were tested in speed, shooting, dribbling and rebounding from five "hotspots" on the basketball court.

In one of the closer races in the contest, Justin Marcis managed to edge Doug Herriman for the title in the boys 15-18 age group. Marcis amassed 85 points to finish on top of the hill. Herriman walked away with the runner-up plaque after accumulating 81 points.

In the 12-14 age group, Andy Power won a convincing victory over the field when he piled up 87 points - 16 more than his closest rival, Guy Villet. Villet settled for the second-place award when he finished with 71 points.

"It was a very interesting contest this year. We had a lot of talented players compete this year."

- Bob Dates
recreation supervisor

Aaron Rypkowski had a seven-point cushion over runner up Ryan Nimmerguth in the shoot-out in the 9-11 age group championship. Rypkowski finished with 70 points as compared

Glenn hosts baseball card show

If you're interested in baseball cards and want to improve your lineup, the Westland John Glenn High School Football Boosters Club is planning a baseball card show with you in mind.

And the boosters also hope to collect funds to help their Rockets field the best team in the state for the 1992-93 school year.

The card show and swap meet is a two-day affair that will be staged from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. on the weekend of Aug. 22. The show will be at the American Legion Hall, 4422 S. Wayne Road in Wayne.

Display tables are available for $35 for one day and $60 for the two day period.

For further information, contact Gil Paddock after 5 p.m. at 728-9525.

Eight-foot tables, as well as refreshments, will be available during the show.

and, in case of a tie for a trophy, those involved will play a "sudden death" playoff to determine the winner.

Entries will be accepted either by mail or they may be dropped off at The Associated Newspapers offices, 35540 Michigan Ave., Wayne, Mich. 48184. Please make checks payable to Bill Hawley.

Tee times and rules will be published in the Aug. 6 edition of The Associated Newspapers.

For further information, please contact the ANP sports desk or telephone Tom Moordian, ANP staff writer, at 729-4000 during regular business hours, Monday through Friday.

He was an assistant football and head varsity boys' cage coach. He also coached cross country.

Meriweather has a bachelor's as well as a masters in administration degree. He also has a education specialist degree and has served in the U.S. Armed Forces.

Romulus is presently competing as an independent. It left the South Conference a year ago, and has been seeking affiliation with the newly-organized Mega Conference. The application is being reviewed, but no concrete response has been given the school on whether it has been accepted, according to school officials.

Cage champs

Record falls in Belleville 4-mile walk marathon

For the third straight year, the men's course record in the Belleville Strawberry Festival four-mile walk was broken.

Honors went to 31-year-old Dave Vanderkooy with a time of 21:11. Jeff Pepper was second with 21:27, followed by Scott Patton with 21:45. Bill Kennedy, 41, led the masters' contingent with a 25:26 clocking.

Laura Moore, 23, led the women's field, finishing 16th overall with a 25:53 clocking. She was followed by Marie Collet with a 26:32 and Anne Gray with 26:49. Donna Olson, 42, lead the female master's field with 29:26.

Forty-two-year-old Martin Cadwell established a new course record of 40:58 in the four-mile walk. Johnny Parks, 62, finished second with a time of 42:49.

Ryan McClain of Canton Township led the field of one-mile "fun runners" with a time of 5:25. Belleville resident Nicole Gradiac, 12, clocked a 7:31 as she finished first among the female participants.

Overall winners in the four-mile run were Vanderkooy and Moore.

thanks to a single and double.

Jake's exploded for five runs in the third inning to hand Redford Moose a 6-2 setback. John Irwin and Kevin Wilson split four of their team's 13 hits off of loser Sandy Moore. Keith Trudell, who tossed a seven-hitter, gave up a run-scoring single to Dave Mahaz.

Redford Moose was eliminated from the playoffs after losing a 10-4 decision to Red Apple. Moore again took the loss, giving up 12 hits, including two to winning hurler Corney, who had a pair of singles and two RBIs.

to second-place finisher Nimerguth, who had 63.

The girls were also busy, and Olive Ikeh proved to be the best in the 15-18 age group. She won the crown with 45 points.

However, it was a toss up between Janelle Sterling and Melissa Marzolf for the title in the 12-14 category. Sterling wound up the winner when she piled up a 67-point total as compared to Marzolf's second-place finish. The runner up had 55 points.

It was no-contest in the 9-11 age group, however. Laine Sterling, Janella's younger sister, proved too much for the field. Laine shot her way to the title with 65 points, while her second-place opposition trailed far behind. Jamie Coyle got the second-place award for her 16-point output.

"It was a very interesting contest this year," said Bob Dates, recreation supervisor.

Cost, not fear, deters potential bungee jumpers

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

Thrill-seekers are shying away from bungee jumping because of the cost factor, not from fear of injury, according to a survey of area residents.

Currently, operators of bungee-jumping rigs are charging between $60 and $100 for a few seconds of flight from a 100-foot tower. While most thrill-seekers have experienced no problems, an accident earlier this month resulted in the death of one man and severe injuries to another.

Some legislators have proposed banning the sport, while other lawmakers believe standards must be set to regulate the activity.

The jump master stepped into the cage and signaled the crane operator to begin the lift. This is when I began to feel my heart pound in my chest. From the ground 185 feet looks pretty ominous, but at the top gazing at the ground from the jump cage, it looks like flying elevation of a 747.

I'm sure that under normal conditions I would have taken in the view, but in this case I was just amazed how tiny things on the ground had become. The jump master asked me on the way up how I felt and it was then that I admitted some fear. He then explained that when we got to the top and the gate was opened I was to stand on the edge and wait for the countdown.

We reached the top and he started to count- three, two, one, BUNGEE. There I was, at the moment of truth. My mind started to tell me that it is not wise to jump from VERY high places. I didn't give it a chance to finish. I let myself fall. I cannot totally explain the feeling that I had. Free falling through the air creates a whole new reference point for your mind.

I truly felt as though I was flying. I felt totally free of the earth, and the apprehension I felt on the way up was gone. Even though I know that I was falling for only a few seconds, it seemed like minutes.

Then I reached the end of the cord, and the jerk that I experienced gives the word reassuring a whole new meaning. Now the bouncing began, and it was great. If I felt like I was flying before, in a manner I truly was now. You see the earth coming up at you fast, and then you fly up and away. I didn't want it to stop.

Now the bad part, spinning on the end of the bungee cord. The cord itself was swinging in an arc and I was spinning at the connection at the ankle cuffs. This was not fun, and thank goodness I was lowered and steadied by the ground crew.

When I was finally unhooked, I was consumed with excitement and the adrenaline was hampering my attempts to control my mind. Any other thoughts that had been anywhere near cogent had vanished and for the next few hours all that remained was the memory of the jump. And by the next day all I could think about was doing it again.

Then came the reports of the bungee accidents and injuries to jumpers. And, of course, the questions from anyone who knew that I jumped. Would I do it again is always the main question, and the answer is yes, under the right circumstances. I don't believe that bungee jumping is an exceedingly dangerous activity if the proper precautions are taken. Just like many other things, there have to be regulations and inspections to ensure that the regulations are met.

Bungee jumping is not for everyone, but it is for me.

New subdivision approved in Wayne

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Feature Editor

A new subdivision consisting of rustic homes will soon be constructed on Glenwood road between Newburgh and John Hix roads in Wayne.

Wayne council members recently approved the preliminary plat plan for the Tanglewood Subdivision which will house 27 single-family homes. The project is the creation of builder and developer Ron Story.

"These homes will be rustic, cute homes," Story said. "Average price will be $145,000 to $213,000. They will be more rustic because they will be situated in a heavy wooded area."

The Tanglewood homes are expected to have larger porches with handrails as well as providing all the amenities of the Legacy homes which were recently completed off John Hix Road.

"We will have the models designed to show what the homeowner can have which includes the jacuzzi in the master bedroom and an upstairs laundry room," Story said.

The style of homes have not been established just yet, but they could be the Cape Cod design, according to Story.

Council members must approve the final plan for Story to begin construction. Approval is expected sometime next week.

"Once the council approves the final plat, we'll more than likely begin construction of the new subdivision this September," Story said.

Story is pre-selling the lots.

Story recently completed the Legacy Estates subdivision off of John Hix Road. There are approximately 13 lots left in Legacy.

County offers summer jobs

If you are between the ages of 16 and 21 and do not have a summer job, you may want to contact the Wayne County Job Connection.

Officials this week said that there are still summer jobs available to youth residing in Belleville, Van Buren Township, Romulus, Wayne, Westland and Inkster.

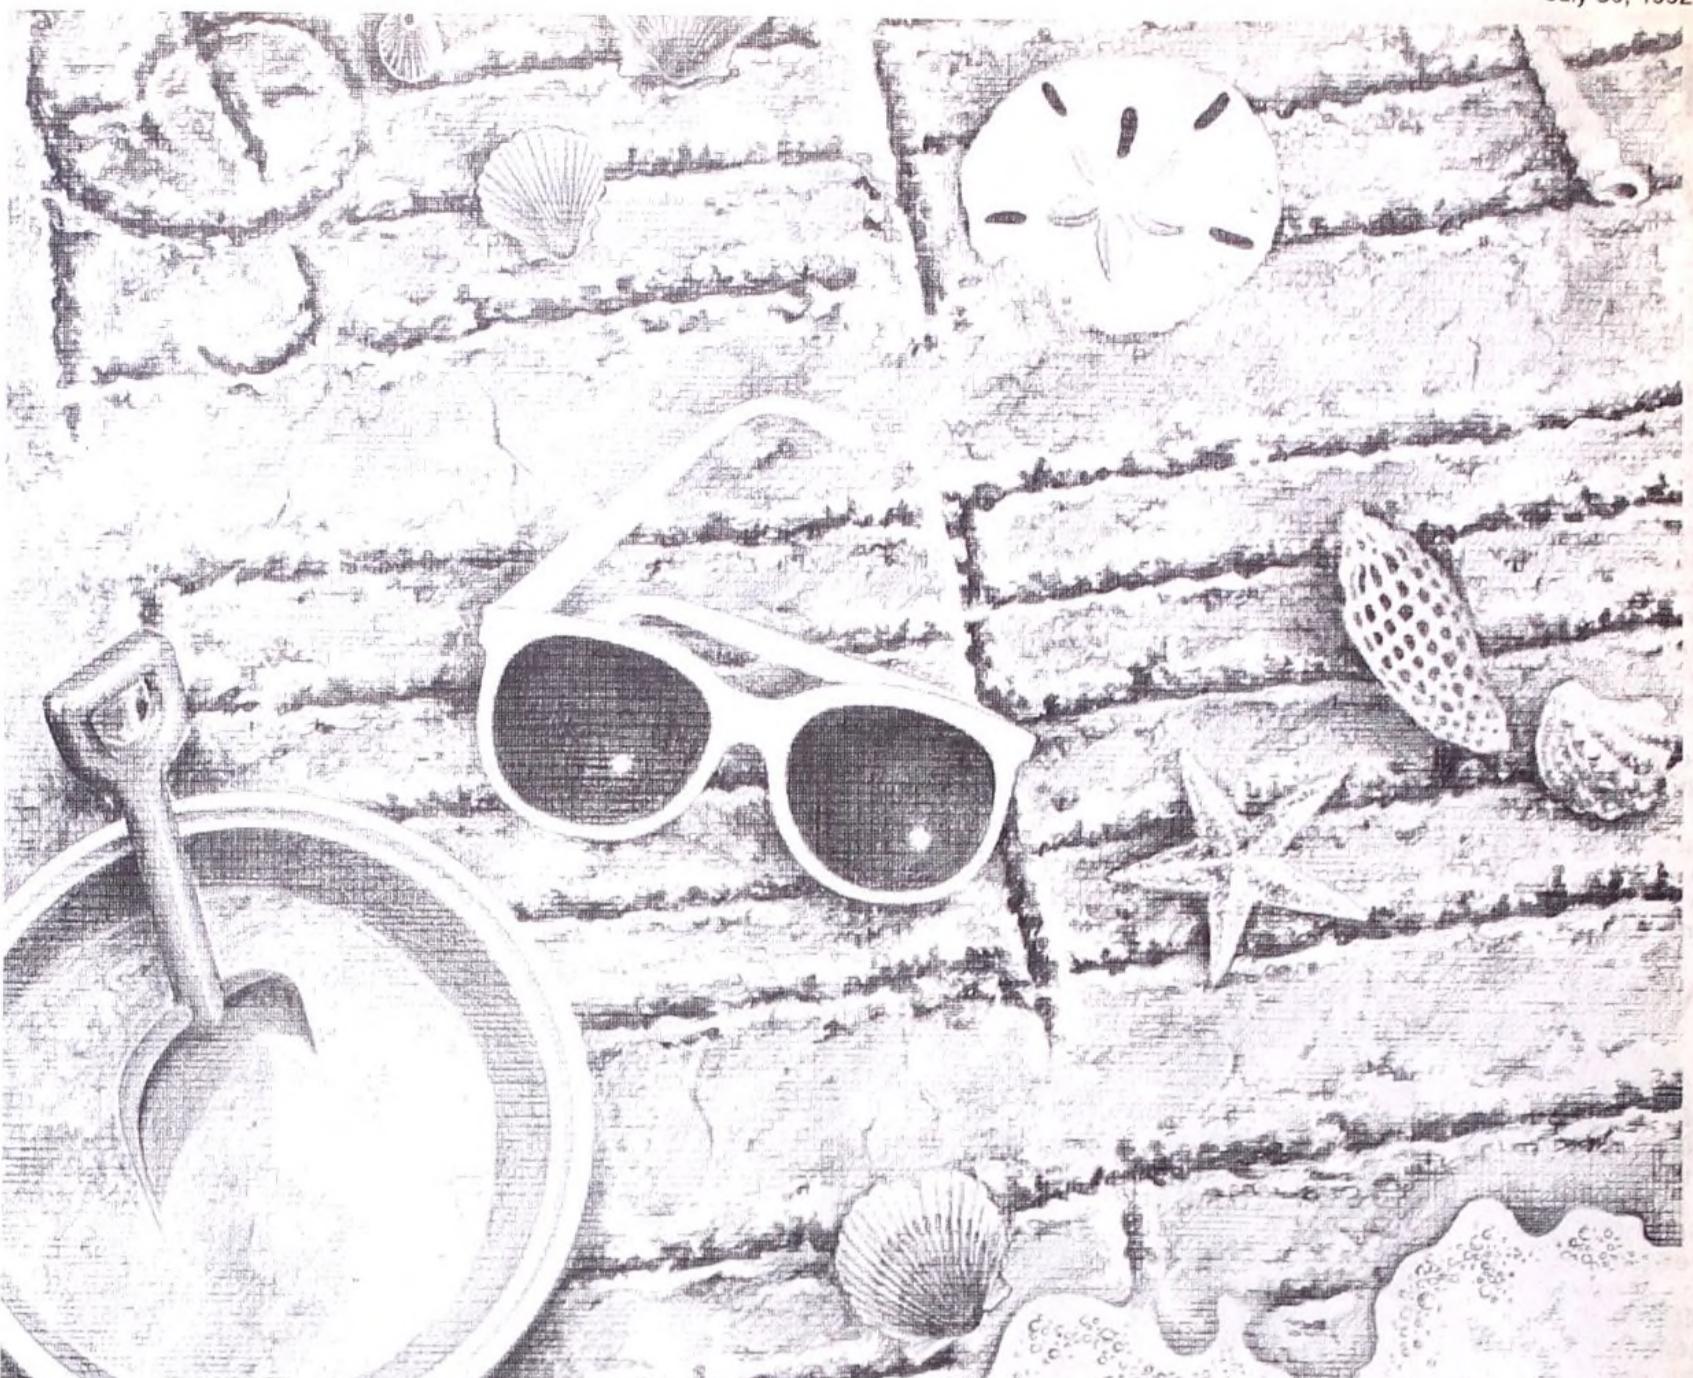

The summer youth job program, operated by the Metropolitan Detroit Youth Foundation, provides short-term employment to eligible low income youth between the ages of 16-21. The major goals of the program are to provide youth with a meaningful summer job, assist them in developing and maintaining academic skills, and to develop positive work attitudes and behaviors in young people.

Most of the summer jobs will run to Aug. 14. All of the jobs will be based in public entities and private nonprofit agencies.

"The program is designed to offer jobs to youth who have limited employment possibilities," said Dennis L. Gibson, MDYF executive director. "The young people will not only be employed, but will make valuable contributions through neighborhood beautification projects, health services and other programs that will help enhance the community."

The MDYF summer jobs program hotline is 861-7003.

Wayne begins bicycle patrol

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Feature Editor

It's Monday morning. Two suspects are seen in Dynamite Park in Wayne on the bike trail near a wooded area. They are passing what appears to be cocaine. Thinking no one is watching them, the transaction takes place. Within seconds, Wayne police officer John Williams skids in front of the suspects, jumps off his mountain bike and arrests the two for attempting to deliver and purchase cocaine.

Wayne residents will soon see a local patrolman cruising the area on two wheels.

Officials from the Wayne Police Department implemented a new program this week which is geared toward making the parks, downtown area, and bike trails safe for the community, according to Wayne Police Chief John Colligan.

"Officer Williams will be riding through those areas on a bike during the week and weekends," Colligan said. "We want to have a physical presence of a police officer in the park, on the bike trails and in the downtown area during the summertime so people have a sense of security."

The hours Williams will be riding are flexible. He will be wearing reflective tape on his uniform in order for residents to notice him, according to Colligan.

"I think it is important to get back to the grassroots where a police officer is present for the community to feel secure," Colligan said. "Officer Williams will be carrying a ticket book and police reports. He will enforce all city ordinances.

"We are really dedicated to having an officer working with the people on a more personal basis," he said.

The Ross Mt. Olympus mountain bike was purchased from Wild Bill's in Wayne. Bill Copland Jr. assisted the Wayne Police Department with their bike selection.

"It's a 21-speed mountain bike which can handle all terrains," Copland said. "It has an aluminum rack and a saddle bag."

Williams, who is also the DARE (Drug Abuse and Resistance Education) officer, volunteered to be the only Wayne

Christine Gram and Amanda Fenn, both 5, meet officer John Williams on patrol in Wayne at the municipal parks and bike paths. The innovative program was begun in Wayne to help improve safety, according to officials. ANP photo by Larry DiVizio police bike officer, according to Colligan. He will resume his DARE responsibilities in the fall.

Other communities which have similar police bike security programs include Pontiac, Ann Arbor and St. Clair Shores. Dayton, Ohio has 33 officers on bikes patrolling 365 days a year, according to Colligan.

New leader named at Inkster 300th Military Police Command

There has been a changing of the guards, of sorts, at the 300th Military Police Command in Inkster.

The 300th recently served in the Persian Gulf Conflict.

A lifelong resident of the city of Wayne, Claffey has been self-employed for the past 26 years as a distributor for the Amway Corporation and manages his own distribution. He also holds a senior account executive position for Mechanics Express.

In his capacity as account executive, Claffey contracts with various automobile dealers to find employment for auto mechanics.

In his new capacity with the 300th, Claffey becomes the ranking enlisted NCO (Non-commission Officer) of the Military Police Command.

Claffey will have the responsibility of establishing policies and standards of performance, and mission readiness for the Military Police Command 2,500 soldiers in five midwest states.

According to MacDonald, Claffey's responsibility also will entail the counsel and guidance of noncommission officers and serve as president or member of all command selection boards for noncommission officers.

Claffey comes to his new assignment from the 1st Battalion, 423 regiment of the 70th Training Division located in Fort Wayne, Indiana.

The 300th Military Police Command was created in 1959. The command has two peacetime missions, one to train to accomplish a wartime mission of handling enemy prisoners of war and secondly to provide command and control for Military Police units of the Army Reserves in the states of Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, Illinois and Iowa.

Five units of the 300th Military Police Command had that responsibility during Operation Desert Storm.
